PROGRAMS & SERVICES

SERVING THE ST. LOUIS COMMUNITY FOR 104 YEARS!

There is a well-known African proverb that states if you want to go fast, go alone. If you want to go far, go together. This proverb aptly illustrates the collaborative effort that defined the work of the Urban League of Metropolitan St. Louis, Incorporated in the year 2021. As the pandemic continued its relentless assault on our community, especially the vulnerable families we serve, The Urban League efficiently delivered lifesaving COVID-19 resources while continuing to provide our core empowerment programming.

We were able to serve nearly 200,000 families in 2021 thanks to the tremendous support of our partners, many dedicated volunteers, and valued donors. Throughout this report you will see a recurring theme of partnership and collaboration. We could not have the impact outlined briefly in this report without the unwavering support of so many. We were able to go far beyond expectations because we did not go alone.

From vaccinations and COVID-19 testing to jobs, education, and housing, we collaborated with numerous partners and delivered quality programs and services for our community and our clients. We partnered with the City of St. Louis to quickly and efficiently administer over $1.3 million in funding for rent and mortgage assistance preventing thousands of evictions. Our staff worked tirelessly to process 11,537 applications for utility assistance payments with funding from a variety of partners including Heat Up/Cool Down St. Louis. Our newly opened Panera Pantry served more than 13,000 people seeking nutritious food to supplement their meals and reduce grocery costs. Many of the area's top companies chose the Save Our Sons program as their partner of choice for hiring and training and as a result we placed more than 450 African-American men in quality jobs.

The Urban League continues to earn the respect of our partners and the trust of our clients and donors because we have proven that we consistently deliver—especially in times of crisis. We have 104 years of experience and history to rely on and trusted partners we can count on.

In 2020, The Urban League launched a $25 million capital campaign and moved its headquarters for the first time in 48 years. Over the past year, we have invested millions in renovations creating a new, more efficient hub allowing us to better serve the community and our clients. In 2021, as building renovations continued, we began to see the benefits of establishing the new Regional Headquarters. The Panera Pantry continues to grow. We announced a historic partnership with Simmons Bank for a new, full-service bank to anchor our main level—the first bank to open in North St. Louis in decades. Edward Jones is opening a new financial education/outreach office and our partners NDC (National Development Council) and Thrivent have already begun to move into new spaces to serve clients. Physically, the new headquarters is truly a beacon and anchor in the historic Kingsway/Academy corridor.

As we move into 2022, we continue to be strategic about our growth: we are expanding Save Our Sons with new offices in North County, South City, and East St. Louis, IL. We are strengthening our Save Our Sisters program and opening a dedicated office in our headquarters to better meet the needs of women, and we are honoring our commitment in the Ferguson/Dellwood area by developing the Urban League Plaza on West Florissant and opening our new senior citizen apartments and community center.

The mission of the Urban League is to empower African-Americans and others throughout the region in securing economic self-reliance, social equality, and civil rights. We could not do this work without our phenomenal Board of Directors, a tremendous staff and leadership team, and our partners. We are deeply appreciative.

And finally, I want to honor the memory of a true Urban Leaguer. Sadly, the Urban League lost a giant in the passing of Roy E. Gillespie who served in extraordinary fashion as the Director of Logistics for our relief efforts. We renamed the distributions in his honor and Dot Foods donated a commercial trailer that has been specially wrapped with Roy's image. We miss him greatly.

Thank you for your support of the Urban League and we look forward to continued service and partnership in 2022.

Good evening, friends,
 It's really good to see all of you here in person. During these past two years, it has been an honor to serve as Chairman of the Board of Directors for the Urban League of Metropolitan St. Louis. You know, it has not been the best of times, but it has not been the worst of times. The Board, management, staff, volunteers, donors and, of course my old friend, President and CEO, Mike McMillan, rose to the challenge to deliver enhanced programs and increased services during the dark days of the pandemic waves.

The Board is especially grateful to our donors, community partners, volunteers, and civic and governmental organizations for their support during two years of an unprecedented challenge.

But then the Urban League was created out of challenge and one of the most heartbreaking and destructive times in our region's history—the East St. Louis Race Riots of 1917. Out of that destruction and ashes came a determined new movement of blacks and whites working together to create opportunities for all people. Nearly 100 years later, in 2014 racial conflict again focused the spotlight of the world upon our City. From the ruins of the Ferguson QuikTrip, like a Phoenix rising from the ashes, the Urban League then built its new Community Empowerment Center which now houses our county workforce programs and is home to several community partners.

Furthermore, the expansion of good programs and good work continues in that area even as we speak. We responded in 2014, and we continue to respond today with over 55 empowering programs and services that profoundly change lives. Of that there is no doubt.

As you read this report and see the impact of the work of the Urban League, the numbers speak for themselves, but the real stories are found in the lives of the families we have served. The hundreds of children getting quality education in our Head Start/Early Head Start program. The thousands of individuals who now have a job paying a wage that allows them to take care of their families. The neighborhoods that are safer because of Clean Sweep, the work of our Cure

Violence team and the incomparable work of James Clark and our Division of Public Safety and Community Response. We helped women start or grow their businesses with support and coaching from our Women's Business Center. We efficiently and quickly processed millions of dollars in utility and mortgage assistance. When the people needed it most, we fed the hungry and vaccinated the vulnerable. We served our metropolitan community with 40 large-scale food and supply distributions!

The pandemic stopped a lot of things. Many small businesses folded. Schools shut down. We could not even visit our loved ones. But the Urban League kept going. As I've said before: when the world took shelter, the Urban League took action. We still remain on the front lines, and we still deliver every day.

Thank you for trusting us. Thank you for believing in us. Thank you for volunteering with us and supporting us with your financial gifts. We could not have had such a tremendous impact without your support. The Board and I salute all of you.

Sincerely,

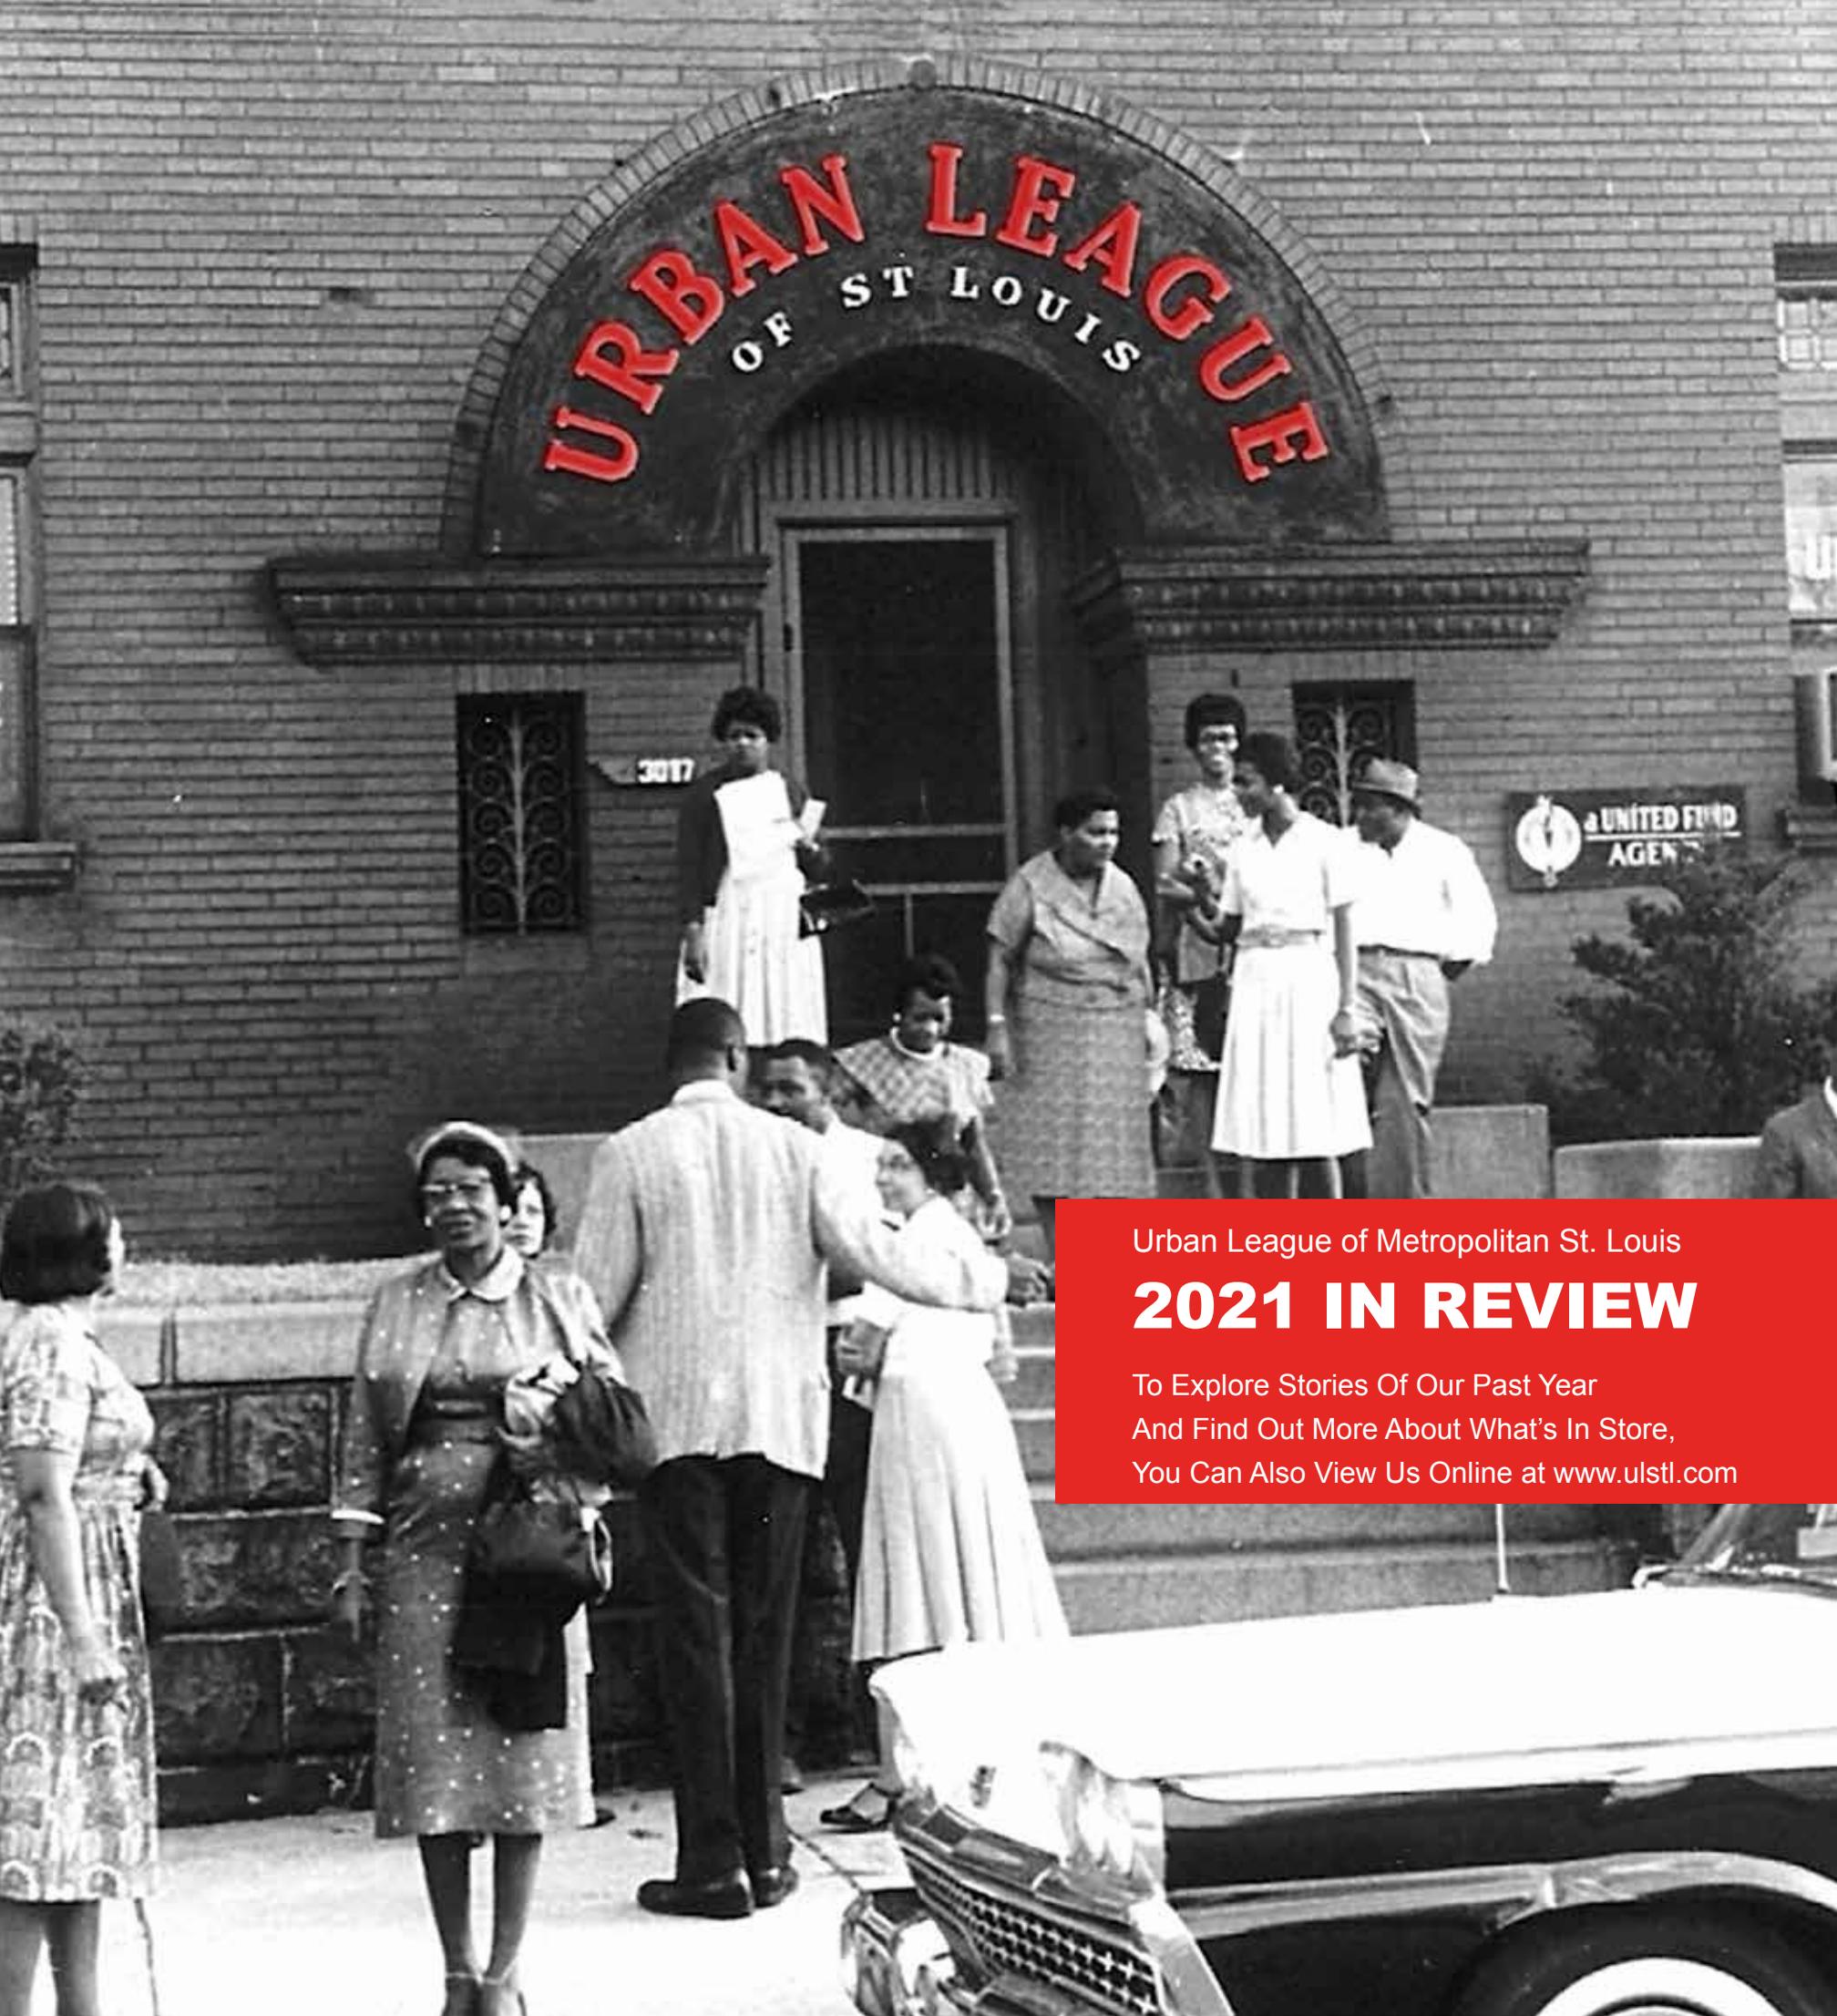

Mark H. Levison

The Urban League of Metropolitan St. Louis can trace its roots back to 1910, the same year as the founding of the National Urban League. On April 28 of that year, a committee of the Social Service Conference and one of the committees for Social Service Among Colored People met at the Church of the Messiah, pastored by Rev. John Day to determine how they might work together to provide needed social services to the hundreds of blacks who had fled the South for northern industrial cities like St. Louis seeking jobs and escaping from sharecropping, Jim Crow segregation laws, fear of lynching and the Ku Klux Klan. Roger N. Baldwin, a Washington University professor who later founded the American Civil Liberties Union, presided over the meeting and explained its purposes, which were “to collect information and report to various committees conditions and needs of people” and to act on those needs not receiving services. At that time those in the black community had many social needs that had been neglected.

One hundred and three years ago, in 1918, a small group of black and white St. Louisans came together and founded the Urban League of St. Louis in reaction to the East St. Louis race riot. Many who were impacted by the riot had fled to St. Louis. Their numbers added to the hundreds of others who were part of the great black migration from the South to northern cities in search of a better life and jobs at companies with federal contracts. This placed a taxing burden on the black community which already had a contained living area with the worst conditions, limited health services, outdated school facilities, and limited job opportunities along with a high illness and death rate. This was also a time when racial tensions were high in the nation and city. The year before, in 1917, St. Louisans passed a segregation ordinance three to one, which was later ruled unconstitutional by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Then home-owners began using social covenants that secured promises from residents never to sell to a black person. Under these daunting conditions, the Urban League of St. Louis began its work of pursuing America’s promise for African-Americans. This group of civic-minded individuals, believed to be the first of its kind in the city, had as its goal, helping new arrivals adjust to the urban environment and alleviating some of the awful conditions they were facing in their daily lives. The Urban League also wanted to assist in easing some of the legal, social and racial tensions.

Although the League began as a social service organization, it has evolved to include:

- Educational Excellence
- Community Empowerment
- Economic Opportunity
- Public Safety & Community Response
- Civil Rights & Advocacy programs

Today, the Urban League provides opportunity for African Americans and others through partnerships with a variety of corporations, community leaders, and governmental and civic institutions. Because of the support of others, we are able to stand on the front line of strengthening communities and diffusing racial tensions.

The St. Louis League is the largest League in the nation, the first to earn a five-star rating and one of two in the country to provide services in two states, Illinois and Missouri.

Capital Campaign Goal

Nostalgically known as the Old Sears Building, the massive 205,000-square foot facility on North Kingshighway has long been integral to the social and commercial lives of the African American community. Built in 1928, Sears was the only major department store accessible to the increasing concentration of African Americans in North St. Louis.

The Urban League's Restoring Hope Capital Campaign is making tomorrow possible for people determined to improve their lives. The $25 million capital campaign supporting our new Regional Headquarters at 1408 North Kingshighway launched in 2020 and as of February 2021, nearly $16 million has been raised. The strategic move to the old Sears Building allows us to create a one-stop service delivery hub while anchoring a neighborhood that has been too-long neglected. In 2021, ULSTL served over 199,000 clients, an increase of 40% over 2019 thanks to the additional space.

The redevelopment of the total headquarters campus is being completed in two phases: Phase 1 is renovation of the headquarters building including the Vaughn Cultural Center and Phase 2 is construction of the Urban Farm and development of the Aubert Plaza across from the headquarters building. Phase 1 of our renovation is nearly complete, and it couldn't have come at a better time. The COVID-19 pandemic introduced challenges to our community that required an unprecedented, large-scale response. Because of the Urban League's recent expansion, we were ready to meet the need throughout 2021. None of these relief activities, which impacted the lives of over 300,000 St. Louisans in 2020 and 2021, would have been possible given the space constraints at our old Grandel Square location.

Simmons Bank Project:

Simmons Bank and the Urban League of Metropolitan Saint Louis, Inc. (ULSTL) are partnering to establish a new full-service Simmons Bank branch on the first floor at the ULSTL headquarters. Construction on the branch has begun with completion slated by summer of 2022. The new 2,567 square-foot branch will provide customers access to a full-range of banking products and services designed to help them meet their evolving financial needs and will also include a drive thru banking lane and ATM with after-hours deposit capabilities. This project is a significant step in helping serve the under-banked residents and small businesses of North St. Louis City, especially those along the Kingshighway corridor. The new branch will be designed and built by minority-owned businesses Grice Group Architects and KWAME Building Group.

Vaughn Cultural Center:

The Vaughn Cultural Center project will anchor a newly created African-American cultural district. A new and expanded Vaughn will be housed on the first floor of the new Regional Headquarters occupying more than 15,000 square feet of space. The Urban League is currently planning the space and programming with our partners at the Missouri Historical Society.

The Vaughn was founded in 1979 with funds donated by Mrs. Ermaline Vaughn in memory of her husband, Dr. Arthur Vaughn, a prominent local physician who served on the faculty of the St. Louis University Medical School for over 25 years. Since its founding, the Vaughn Cultural Center has been lauded for its exhibitions of works by influential black artists from across the United States and the world. It also serves as a venue for performances by black actors, dancers, and poets with rotating exhibits allowing patrons to discover upcoming and exciting new artists regularly. The St. Louis Convention and Visitor's Bureau is currently invested in the growth of this area and has placed one of its state-of-the-art visitor kiosks at the intersection of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Drive and North Kingshighway—steps from our front door.

Urban Farm Project:

The Urban League is partnering with the State of Missouri and Vested Urban Farms to establish a hydroponic farming operation on the new Regional Headquarters campus. As urban density increases— the U.S. Department of Agriculture expects 66 percent of the population to be living in urban areas by 2050 – delivering fresh produce to major cities figures to be an even greater challenge. According to the USDA, St. Louis is the 24th worst city in the country in terms of access to healthy food options. A little more than 6.1% of the city’s population lives in a low-income census tract at least a mile away from a grocery store.

The national average is 6.5%. The disparity is even larger for St. Louis’ Black population. In the St. Louis Metro Area, 13.9% of Black residents live in a low-income census tract and at least a mile from a grocery store. Vested Urban Farms is providing the aeroponic farming technology and talent. The project utilizes a scalable model that can be replicated in communities and residences across the region. Vested Urban Farms has developed a comprehensive education/outreach program that includes a nutrition education program. This component also provides small group/Cohort learning experiences. There will be Tower Garden workshops for the general community, school field trips and tailored STEM activities in addition to Tower-to-Table special events. The farm project will be a major component of Phase 2 of campus development.

St. Louis City Outreach Center:

COVID-19 greatly impacted the ability of our St. Louis Outreach Center to serve clients in person however, the move to the new Regional Headquarters made it easier to provide alternatives. Clients were able to drop off rental and utility assistance applications at our drive-through/walk up area. They were also able to easily access other programs and services in the new location including the Panera Pantry and the Save Our Sons program for those in need of assistance with employment. The center re-opened to the public in the fall with more than 1,500 clients visiting the center within the first 30 days. Since re-opening, the center has served over 8,500 clients.

Panera Pantry:

2021 marked the opening of the Panera Pantry at the new Regional Headquarters. The pantry was made possible with a $500,000 gift from Panera marking the latest venture in the longstanding relationship. The Panera Pantry operates four days a week and welcomes anyone in need of food assistance. Panera's Vice President of Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion Pamela Morris-Thornton, who also serves on the Urban League Board, has been instrumental in expanding the partnership including facilitating volunteer support from hundreds of Panera employees who helped prepare food boxes and distribute food curbside during the Urban League's pandemic relief operations.

National Development Council:

National Development Council (NDC) is partnering with the Urban League to create a St. Louis Metro-Area Entrepreneurship & Development Center at the new Regional Headquarters. The EDC will serve as a hub for minority entrepreneurs and real estate developers in the St. Louis Metropolitan Area. Programs and services include entrepreneurship and small business training classes, real estate development training, mentoring, and technical support.

Founded as a national nonprofit in 1969, NDC has worked for over 50 years fulfilling its mission to increase the flow of capital for investment in low-income communities. NDC directs capital to support the development and preservation of affordable housing, the creation of jobs through training and small business lending and the advancement of livable communities through investment in social infrastructure.

Thrivent Partnership:

The Urban League of Metropolitan St. Louis and Thrivent are partnering to help the communities we serve navigate the transfer and building of generational wealth. By joining together, we are working to help one generation leave a legacy for the next – passing along wealth, values and growing communities. This partnership focuses on closing the generational wealth gap that exists in the African-American community through financial empowerment workshops, individual advising, financial planning support for the Urban League's small business and entrepreneurial program, charitable giving initiatives and opportunities to serve. Thrivent and The Urban League have a shared goal of economic empowerment.

Thrivent, a Christian values-based, Fortune 300 diversified financial services company, helps people achieve financial clarity, enabling lives of meaning and gratitude – believing that money is a tool, not the ultimate goal. The Urban League advocates for empowering all people in attaining economic self-sufficiency through a variety of opportunities including entrepreneurship, home ownership and wealth accumulation. We know that by working together, we will make a lasting impact together. To learn more about how you can engage, please call 1-314-783-4210 or visit our Thrivent offices at: Suite 202 in the ULSTL Headquarters; Offices at the Small Business Incubator, 929 Spring; or, Regional Financial Office, 1515 Des Peres Road.

I recently had the opportunity to tour the Urban League's new St. Louis headquarters in north city. Their new headquarters was once home to Sears, Roebuck & Co., by the 1960s, was one of the region's major department stores – an iconic beacon and great equalizer in many ways, providing residents in the active and dynamic neighborhoods of North St. Louis access to goods and services through the Sears catalog.

Today, the Urban League of Metropolitan St. Louis offers opportunity and hope at this same location, this time, of a more sustainable nature. From providing COVID vaccines, housing assistance and lifesaving PPE to offering neighborhood safety programs and food, the Urban League makes an investment in human beings, in families, in neighborhoods and in our St. Louis community.

One such investment is the Urban League's Save Our Sons program, which provides job training, career opportunities and ongoing skill building for African American men in our community. During the pandemic alone, Save Our Sons has helped 300 men find local jobs and careers.

Michael McMillan, Urban League of Metropolitan St. Louis President & CEO, shared with me the difference wrap-around services including skill building and job placement can make for men in this program. And with a professional look, the Save Our Sons program is helping to restore someone's dignity – another great equalizer.

Partnering for positive impact is about more than programs, it's about investing in people, and making a difference in their lives for the long term. Our relationship with the Urban League of Metropolitan St. Louis dates back more than 40 years, and I look forward to our continued partnership in service of making a difference for years to come.

URBAN LEAGUE GROWTH:

Strategic growth to meet the more complex and evolving needs of Urban League clients remains a top priority. In 2021 the Urban League initiated or completed real estate transactions for properties that will help us start or expand services. Major projects included:

Urban League Senior Apartments:

The Urban League of Metropolitan St. Louis, Inc. officially broke ground in August 2021 on a new $10 million senior apartment complex and community center in Dellwood, Missouri for seniors 62 years old and older. The project features 44 units of low-income senior housing boasting 40 one-bedroom and 4 two-bedroom units. The modern three-story brick and fiber cement building will have a convenient community space on the first floor. The community space offers a convenient area for programming including the Urban League of Metropolitan St. Louis' popular Senior Empowerment Series. The Urban League worked with Centene and Home State Health to acquire the land and lined up financing through Great Southern Bank. The Missouri Housing Development Commission (MHDC) gave approval to the project and provided tax credits (in 2019). Additional partners include Gardner Capital, KAI Design Build and The National Development Council (NDC).

Urban League Plaza:

The Urban League is re-developing two properties along West Florissant Avenue that were destroyed during the unrest in Ferguson after the death of Mike Brown.

The new Urban League Plaza redevelopment will provide convenient access to necessary services for residents living in Dellwood, Ferguson and the surrounding North County communities. The new 13,500 square foot commercial center will promote economic growth, create new jobs and foster entrepreneurial endeavors and community wellness. The multi-use center will be an incubator for new businesses, have space for strategic partners and community meeting spaces.

Dr. Taylor Apartments:

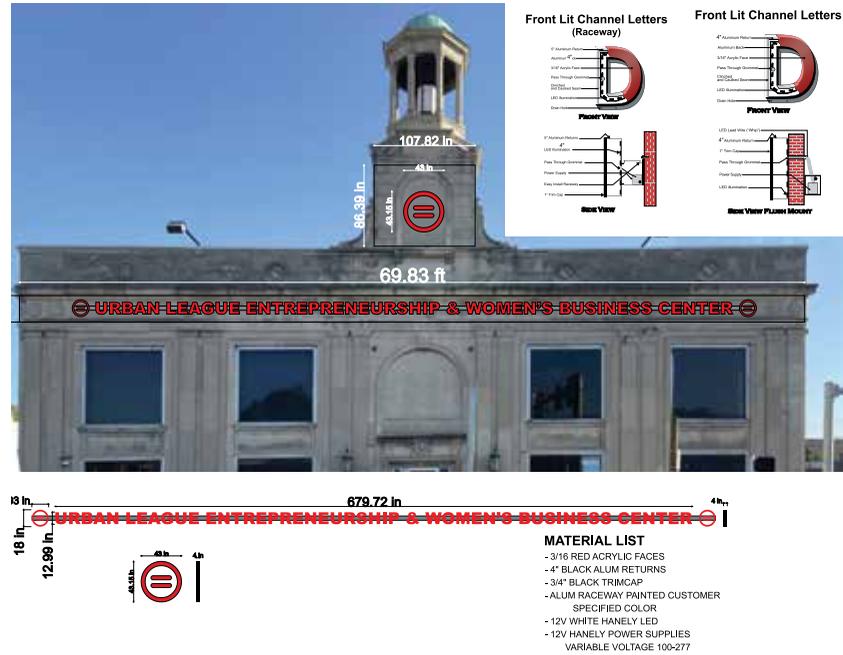

The Urban League acquired the Dr. Taylor Apartments to support our goal of creating and sustaining affordable housing in St. Louis. The apartments are located at 374 West Bell Place.

These renovated 2 bedroom, 1 bath apartments have fully-equipped kitchens, open living areas, great closet space and large bedrooms. The apartments are funded in part through the Low-Income Housing Tax Credit (LIHTC) program; a certain number of units are set aside for lower income households. Households must earn either less than 50% or 60% of the area median income (depending on the set-aside option chosen by the property owner) to qualify for these units. Rents in these units are capped at a maximum of 30% of the set-aside area median income (adjusted for unit size).

Commerce Bank Project at Natural Bridge:

The Urban League moved forward in 2021 with plans to open an expanded Women’s Business Center and an Entrepreneurship Center at 4401 Natural Bridge. The new facility will provide classes and seminars for current business owners and residents interested in exploring options as a small business owner. This location will become a hub for all small business activities. The Women Business Center is sponsored by the Small Business Administration.

Community Empowerment

EMPOWERING FAMILIES THROUGH IMPACTFUL PROGRAMS

The Urban League provides resources that stabilize families so that empowered clients may focus on bettering themselves and their communities. JENNINGS OUTREACH CENTER

Program Summary:

The Urban League is doing all that we can to close the digital divide. The Business Training Center helps those that need basic computer skills of all ages and backgrounds. Through the pandemic we were able to serve 151 indirect and 41 direct. The indirect number was so high because some were more interested in simply learning how to log on to be part of the virtual community and once they figured that out, they were on their way.

Dr. Jacqueline Carter, program facilitator, was challenged with teaching basic computer skills in the middle of a pandemic. Not only did we have to teach basic skills, but we also had to teach and learn how to be present in a virtual society. We were intentional with meeting clients where they were. Most of the classes started with teaching them basic skills on how to operate their smart phones to be able to attend class or a doctor's appointment via zoom. Through all the challenges of being virtual, we still did not miss a beat. The virtual world was new to a lot of us and foreign to many that were already behind on their computer skills before the pandemic.

Food Pantry:

Clients that benefited from the food pantry were from all diverse backgrounds. The common denominator was that they needed or did not have access to the amount of food that they had prior to the pandemic. During the year of 2021, the St. Louis County food pantry served 7,759 families directly. There were over 12,000 families served indirectly through our weekly mobile market.

Food prices were on the rise and people were having to choose between buying medicine, paying rent, and eating a full meal. There were quite a few families that lost employment and had kids that were home being schooled virtually. There was less money coming into the home and children being home more often to eat. The Urban League was able to ensure that families had access to food weekly. There was fresh food, canned food, and frozen food available. We ensured that families had enough food to feed their families for a few days and could return the next week for any staple food items that they needed to supplement their pantries and fridges at home.

Utility Assistance:

The St. Louis County division of the Urban League partnered with programs like Dollar More through United Way and Keeping Current through Ameren to assist families with their utility needs. We were able to directly assist 312 families with utility assistance. The Urban League was able to help keep families warm in the winter, cool in the summer, and avoid the eviction process because of the assistance that was provided for utilities. We were able to create great partnerships with organizations like Heat Up St. Louis as well, to assist additional families in need.

Volunteers:

The Urban League was able to continue to serve the community with the help of volunteers. We had volunteers from many organizations to come out and help during their down time at work, in the evenings and on some weekends. AARP provided us with 5 participants that worked 18 hours per week for a total of 3,960 hours. For the large-scale food distributions, we had over 668 volunteers to pack food boxes and distribute food totaling 2,675 hours. We could not have served as many people as we did if it had not been for all of the dedicated volunteers.

Coding Camp:

Coding was offered as a camp at the Urban League for six weeks in the summer. We were able to have 6-8 students in each class (cohort) each week. The camp taught the students basic coding skills and introduced them into the world of tech. It was an absolute success. The students were able to attend all day for one week and while they were there, they received breakfast, a hot lunch, and a snack for FREE. By the end of their session, they were all able to build their own video game, build a website and write over 1,000 lines of code. Every week there was a guest speaker that would come in and talk to them about finances, budgeting and saving as well.

GED-HiSET:

The partnership with St. Louis Public Schools continued through the pandemic, while they were not having classes in person. The Urban League St. Louis County division was a host virtual site for those that were interested in furthering their education. We had a staff person on site for participants to reach out to daily for assistance with preparing for the test. There was a session held Monday – Friday from 8:00am –12:00pm for students to virtually stop in for assistance or to call for help. There was a curriculum in place for each core subject that coincided with the test. There were 41 students that were registered in and attended the class.

Residents at local senior living facilities who needed emergency rental assistance were assisted with completing on-line applications for the ERAP City program.

We supported The St. Louis Housing Authority at their Headquarters for COVID-19 rental outreach efforts and partnered with Heat Up St. Louis with client utility assistance. The Conflict Resolution Center STL reached out to the Housing Division to assist their clients in an eviction status. Approval was granted by the City of St. Louis for us to assist those that were COVID-19 impacted to place them in our service portal; cases were resolved within 72-hours.

Edward Jones hosted two Pilot Family Financial Empowerment Series for families being supported in the Housing Division. The Edward Jones Team taught the adults and teenagers the basics of financial wellness both in person and virtually.

Our Regional Director of Housing was chosen to serve on the Community Information Exchange (CIE) led by the United Way, CIE Steering Committee where key CIE responsibilities includes providing overall direction, evaluating the backbone of organizations, confirming an equity framework and promoting continuous improvement. The Regional Director of Housing received the Whitney M. Young Excellence in Housing Counseling Award.

Dream Builders for Equity/Regions Partnership:

The Regions Foundation, a nonprofit funded primarily by Regions Bank, awarded the Urban League a $100,000 grant to partner with Dream Builders for Equity to support homeownership in the Hyde Park neighborhood while also empowering more youth through workplace and skills training. Specifically, the grant supports down payment assistance for first-time homebuyers to purchase properties renovated by participants in Dream Builders 4 Equity's Real Estate Program. The Real Estate Program provides youth with an opportunity to earn funds for their future and learn new skills as they work alongside minority contractors to rehabilitate vacant houses. Youth retain equity in the renovated properties, earning wages for their work, as well as receiving a portion of the proceeds in scholarship form when the home sells.

ULSTL Helps Woman Living in Storage Unit Find A New Home:

Shaulawn Bell now has a new home thanks to the diligent efforts of Urban League staff and help from Michael Kennedy (developer of Cambridge Heights) and the complex management staff. President McMillan heard about Ms. Bell's plight from a KMOV report and has been working to help her find new living quarters and connect her with other support services. ULSTL helped locate an apartment, provided payment of her security deposit, assisted with utilities that were in arrears, and just recently, delivered new donated furniture. Thank you to all the staff that supported this effort!

LIHEAP

Program Summary:

The Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP) program experienced a continued challenge in service delivery due to the COVID -19 pandemic which created a unique set of circumstances in administering the program to vulnerable populations and households newly affected by the pandemic. As a result, FSD issued multiple LIHEAP policy revisions to the agencies to address challenges during the COVID-19 crisis.

Despite limitations, The LIHEAP department processed 11,537 applications for winter and summer assistance 313 households received assistance through Dollar Help, Dollar More, Heat-Up/Cool Down St. Louis, and Clean Slate funding. Since the opening of the Urban League Community Outreach Center in the new headquarters in 2021, there has over 8,399 clients have visited for LIHEAP services. Although in-person outreach activity was limited due to the pandemic, the LIHEAP team participated in virtual LIHEAP informational sessions hosted by Spire and the Ameren Heat Up St. Louis Winterizing Utility Winter Forums co-sponsored by Spire.

November 16, 2021, marked an increase in the amount of benefits households could receive. Any household that received EA benefits beginning Oct 1, 2021, received a supplemental payment to increase the total EA benefit by $318. St. Louis city residents now receive EA grants for natural gas at $652 and electric at $636. Winter Crisis funds increased from $800 to $1600. With crisis funding increasing to $1200 from $600 for the upcoming summer. Households now qualify under crisis and self-attestation of their household crisis, be it medical, financial, or resources.

WEATHERIZATION

Program Summary:

The Urban League Weatherization Assistance Program provides cost-effective energy-efficient home improvements to homeowners and renters of St. Louis city. The goal of the program is to lower utility bills and improve comfort within the home while ensuring health and safety for the elderly, children, and those with physical disadvantages who are hit the hardest by high utility costs. Eligibility requirements for the Weatherization Assistance Program (WAP) are based on income and household size. Low-income households spend nearly 14 percent of their total annual income on energy costs while other households spend only 3 percent of their averaged annual income on energy costs. Many St. Louis residents live in older homes that may not have insulation or may have older, less efficient appliances. Once the home is weatherized a family is at a greater advantage to pay their utility expenses and to reduce their debit. A home that has been weatherized can reduce average annual fuel usage per dwelling by 35 percent.

Meeting the goal of homes serviced in Fiscal Year 2021 was impacted by the novel COVID-19 pandemic. Although stay-at-home orders for St. Louis City residents had been lifted, weatherization crews and contractors experienced delays in production due to shortages in experienced staff, shortages in available lumber and backordered materials used to insulate and heat homes, windows, and doors. Through continuous training certifications earned by weatherization department staff and contractors, over 55 homes were able to be serviced using funding from DOE, LIHEAP, Ameren, Ameren Charitable, Spire, and CDA.

“I completed the First Time Homeowners workshop almost a year ago to the date. The presenter made the sessions fun. I learned so much about what home ownership would look like and gained a sense of confidence once the course was over. The workshop helped me to get all my ducks in a row so that I could make my dream of becoming a homeowner a reality.

I purchased my first home in November of last year! Not only did the workshop satisfy a requirement for my home loan but it truly prepared me for what was to come with the process of buying a home. I knew what questions to ask and what things to look out for during the home inspections leading up to closing on my house. I am using tips that the presenter gave to me during our sessions. It feels great to own my own home and also be well informed of what all this great responsibility entails. I would not have been prepared had I not taken this workshop. Thank you, Urban League, for your assistance! It has been life changing for my children and I!”

Cloud Storage:

In partnership with PCS for People, we distributed 786 desktop computers to St. Clair County residents to help decrease the digital divide in this region. We also distributed an additional 49 desktop computers to families for Christmas.

Centreville Water Crisis:

We host monthly food and water distributions for the Centreville residents. YTD, we have distributed over 3,000 cases of water. We have distributed nearly 725 gallons of water using the Water Box. As a result of outdated and inadequate water and sewer lines, residents are exposed to unsafe water to drink and cook with. With any type of rainfall, the Centreville Residents are subjected to flash flood waters which deteriorates the foundation of their homes. In collaboration with Equity Legal Services, Metropolitan St. Louis Equal Housing Opportunity Council and many other community partners, the Urban League has been able to assist in purchasing and distributing bottles of water. The Urban League's involvement began in 2019 where we distributed nearly 5,000 bottles of water. In 2020, the amount increased by 557% as we distributed nearly 32,864 bottles of waters (4,694 Gallons) to help make sure residents have safe water for drinking and cooking. This would not have been possible without the support of many community partners.

FOOD INSECURITY

Program Summary:

Food insecurity, according to Feeding America, is defined as the “lack of access, at times, to enough food for an active, healthy life for all household members and limited or uncertain availability of nutritionally adequate foods.” People who are food insecure may have to choose between paying for nutritionally adequate food and other necessities such as housing and medical payments. .

COMMUNITY EMPOWERMENT REPORT

An Effective Collaboration for 22 Years Heat-Up St. Louis & Cool Down St. Louis:

Gentry W. Trotter, founder of Heat-Up St. Louis & Cool Down St. Louis, had a dream 23 years ago to have a regional energy assistance public service agency that would address public health and safety crisis issues, change utility companies' policies, and help educate the public about how energy efficiency and other offering and funding programs could help them. Helping the public avoid unsafe methods of heating their homes during the winter months and fulfilling cooling needs during the dangerously hot and humid summer months was also a priority as well as developing a consortium of partners to aid in the clarion call of public safety and to eradicate poverty by bundling other funding pots to help drive utility bills down to the lowest manageable level. The Urban League of Metropolitan St. Louis was the first partnering agency in 2000, which is the first year Heat-Up St. Louis, Inc., operated. Throughout the years, we both have worked toward ensuring the financial stability of the clients often by bundling resources.

The COVID-19 pandemic continues to decimate wallets, and the community with deaths, illnesses, and the inability to have a job, or at best a steady income, especially in the service and health care sectors. The working poor, seniors and residents with disabilities are often the highest at risk for disconnections. Many clients have experienced some emotional and physical issues relating to being without an energy source, according to our partner, Heat-Up St. Louis, Inc.

Heat-Up/Cool Down has been an excellent feeder for the Urban League's operations, especially for referrals for rental and grocery assistance, job opportunities and training. Heat-Up continues to be a significant and dominate advocacy and social service partner. Heat-Up/Cool Down now covers nearly about 40 Missouri and Illinois countries, including the City of St. Louis. Michael P. McMillian, President/CEO of the Urban League of Metropolitan St. Louis, Inc. is on the Heat-Up/Cool Down Executive Board. McMillian continues to provide counsel to this unique grassroots partnership.

While Heat-Up St. Louis/Cool Down St. Louis has its business offices in downtown St. Louis, it planned in 2021 to open a regional outreach office at the new Urban League headquarters in the Victor Roberts Building at 1408 North Kingshighway. A full opening is planned for March 2022. Clients will be able to use a drop-slot, as well as interface with Heat-Up staff through social distance in their new center. They will also be few steps away from the Urban League's LIHEAP office. The Urban League, Ameren and several others are donating much of the office furniture and fixtures to Suite 111 on the ground floor, here HUSTL shall be housed.

Our St. Louis County unit benefits greatly from Heat-Up/Cool Down funds through the efforts of HUD block grants and CARES funds, which Heat-Up/Cool Down manages. In 2021 Heat-Up St. Louis now has office space at our Urban League Jennings Road location for County and City residents, where they are accepting applications.

In St. Louis City, The League also works with Heat-Up/Cool Down on other funding pots, i.e. Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Utility Tax Equitable Relief Fund, Rise and Shine and HUD COVID funds on an as needed basis. This allows the Urban League City to be more flexible in the distribution of many other energy assistance funds, some of which have income restrictions.

2021 Hardee's Rise and Shine for Heat:

Urban League's President and CEO Michael P. McMillan once again served as an honorary chair of 2021 Hardee's Rise and Shine For Heat benefit. The effort took place in February at more than 50 Missouri and Illinois Hardee's restaurants. Division Operating Officers Keshia Chapman (IL) and Quenesha Catron (MO) worked to obtain additional volunteers. Keshia's efforts for Illinois are to be commended.

Once again, Hardee's decided to accept pre-orders of Sausage biscuits and Egg Biscuits at a special price of $1.00 for 30 days out from the Rise and Shine event. Some Urban League volunteers were among those serving as official greeters collecting additional "dough" from the public in the menu board.

Hardee's annually donates its Sausage biscuits and Egg biscuits product. This was the 21st annual fundraiser and it was critical for our Urban County and St. Clair County divisions. Utility resources being limited, this event is a strong economic shot in the arm with these Rise & Shine funds being distributed throughout the greater St. Louis region.

Annual Ameren/Heatupstlouis.org Winterizing Utility Forum:

The Urban League of Metropolitan St. Louis, in particular its City and County divisions, joined Ameren Missouri for a series of 2021 Annual Heatupstlouis.org/Ameren Winterizing Utility Forums, co-sponsored by Spire, St. Louis City and the Missouri Public Service Commission. Ameren donated to Heat-Up $200,000 to help cease disconnections during these forums. Both City and County Urban League offices were chosen by Heat-Up St. Louis to further assist their clients in need. Spire used its Dollar-Help credits of $200,000 during the series of webinars.

This 2021 Fall series of webinars impacted the lives of more than 10,500 individuals and families. The webinars included greetings from Mayor Tishaura O. Jones, St. Louis City and Dr. Mati Hlatshwayo Davis, City of St Louis Health Director; Fire Chiefs Association of Greater St. Louis represented by St. Louis Fire Chief Dennis Jenkerson. In addition, Ameren and Spire had video presentations about various energy efficient and budget opportunities. CAASTLC provided weatherization tips for those County and City residents trying to keep their utility bills affordable. Following the 8-minute presentation, the Urban League City and County worked with clients, who also had the opportunity to select them.

17th annual Cooldownstlouis.org/Ameren Cooling A/C Give-A-Way:

Cooldownstlouis.org along with the Urban League City and County divisions were joined by 10 other Missouri agencies who helped distribute 800 new energy efficient air conditioners, donated to Cool Down by Ameren Missouri. In addition to the value of more than $125,000 for the A/C purchase, Ameren Missouri donated to Cooldownstlouis.org $500,000 for utility assistance.

They also provided more than 800 energy efficient light bulbs which significantly saves money year-around on utility bills. These came in handy for so many Urban League clients, as well.

Michael McMillan helped launched the Save our Seniors Cool Down Missouri project created by Cooldownstlouis.org with St. Louis City Mayor Tishaura Jones; Reverend Earl E. Nance, Jr., Chair Emeritus and Cool Down St. Louis corporate treasurer; Fire Chief Dennis Jenkerson, representing the Fire Chiefs Association of Greater St. Louis and Cooldownstlouis.org, as public safety and health co-chair; Marty Lyons, chairman, president and CEO, Ameren Missouri in 2021, (Marty has since been promoted to Ameren Corporation as its new president and CEO); and Cora Faith Walker, St. Louis County Chief Policy Officer; and St. Louis area meteorologists KSDK's News On Your Side Scott Connell; Steve Templeton of KMOV, Channel 4; KPLR-TV's John Fuller and FOX2's Chris Higgins.

Despite the complexities of COVID-19 and social distancing Cooldownstlouis.org continue with our Urban League partnership in the public education campaign of "Turn On The Air," and "Check On Your Neighbors."

The Urban League also distributed Cool Down Cooling Cards during their countless food and PPE distributions throughout the St. Louis region. Ameren Charitable Trust has been generous in the support of Cool Down St. Louis' public education print materials. The partnership we have with both Cool Down and Ameren ensures that lives are saved during each hot and humid dangerous St. Louis summer. When residents turn the air on, they can be assured that the Urban League, Cool Down and Ameren have their health and safety, as a top priority.

SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM

Program Summary:

The Urban League understands that education is one of the most important investments a person can make as it is critical to reducing many inequities within our society.

The Urban League awards scholarships to students from the St. Louis metropolitan area to support their college education and career goals. Currently the agency offers three scholarship programs: the Leslie Scholarship, the Ida Goodwin Woolfolk Scholarship, and the Frankie Muse Freeman Scholarship. These scholarships provide financial assistance to students pursuing their post-secondary education. Scholarship recipients major in subjects such as mechanical, electrical, and aerospace engineering, biology, chemistry, business, accounting, law and pre-med.

Scholarship awardees are selected based on their academic achievement, community service, character, and financial need.

The Urban League of Metropolitan St. Louis Inc. has established the Lou Brock Scholarship in honor of the late Cardinal baseball great who passed away in 2020. The League is donating $5,000 to the Lou Brock Foundation in tribute to this great humanitarian.

ADVANCING EDUCATION EQUITY THROUGH ESSA

Program Summary:

A Civil Rights Imperative”Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA) signals a shift in the policy and accountability landscape, but intentionally leaves open the precise manner by which districts and states will ensure better student outcomes. The revised law provides states and districts with more discretionary authority, but no additional capacity or resources to manage this authority, while explicitly restricting the federal role. States and districts now could prove their explicit commitment to an equitable and excellent education for all children, and the Urban League Movement will hold states and local districts to this renewed promise from the planning through implementation stages.

In Missouri, the plan is being implemented with the collaboration and partnership of a primary team which is made up of the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education (DESE), Public Schools from St. Louis, Kansas City, and Springfield; Urban League of Metropolitan St. Louis, representing the community; and higher education from Maryville University and University of Kansas as well as the Missouri School Boards’ Association. Deciding together eliminates the blame contest and encourages sharing responsibilities in creating systems that advance student success. However, in 2021, the pandemic has changed the landscape of education because it exposed the equity issues in schools. Virtual Teaching and Learning was not the same for all students, staff, schools, and/or districts. Some districts were able to repurpose their programs with minor disruption, others took them several months to get started and students lost time. The experience is an opportunity for schools, districts, and community leaders to take action to create equitable outcomes for all students as stated in the ESSA plan. Together we can experience significant, positive results. The Urban League is addressing the cause and effect of student failures working with the DESE to impact policy changes for the future.

The Urban League of Metropolitan St. Louis has been involved as an advocate of education equity and excellence in all schools representing the voiceless as the State was developing its education plan to submit to the federal government. This work has been very invaluable in many ways but most importantly it created the communications needed for us to continue to advocate in a meaningful and proper way. It’s our responsibility to follow up that our schools are educating ALL our students and the ESSA plan is a great start to hold everyone involved accountable. In addition, it prepared the agency with specific agenda to share with the community. The Urban League plans to follow up by mobilizing and organizing Parents and other Community allies and by providing a platform for parents to share information, learn together and collectively demand accountability from their schools to ensure all students succeed.

Schools belong to the community and the community engages educators to watch over social, emotional, and academic performance of all students. The dilemma is - who is responsible for the high number of African American students not being able to meet the social, emotional, and academic expectations? The Urban League is working to Mobilize and Organize Parents and other Community allies to demand accountability for their schools as well as addressing the cause and effect of student failures working along with the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education to influence changes. In the past such actions were determined solely by the districts and the state department of education. However, the changes in law provided us the opportunity to advocate from within to impact policy and funding.

The vision that all students must learn at high levels, equipped with the skills and knowledge to successfully compete in today’s global competition can be realized and is premised if they are afforded a rich and demanding instructional environment equipped with technology in which priority is assigned to strong and well-prepared teachers and school leaders at each school.

COMMUNITY SCHOOL PARTNERSHIPS

Program Summary:

Our Community School Partnership (CSP) program seeks to impact children, families, and communities in a comprehensive way – moving the needle in education and family stability outcomes through a two generational approach within the St. Louis Public Schools community. This program aims to reduce disparities in quality continuity of education, mental health, employment, health, and safety services for both children and their families. The Urban League of Metropolitan St. Louis embeds full-time Student & Family Mentors in seven elementary schools to provide wrap-around resources to families and students. By ensuring students are attending school and ready to learn, our professional team supports school administrators in building sustainable systems of response. The Urban League helps those students and families advance in a myriad of ways. The Community School Partnership program has continued to operate since 2014 within the St. Louis Public Schools district. This program originally started in Clay Academy of Civics and Exploration Elementary and expanded to Bryan Hill Elementary after two years of service with Clay. During the 2019-2020 school year, the CSP program expanded to five additional schools to serve and support students and families.

Significant CSP Highlights 2021 :

The CSP program currently serves over 1,600 students annually in the St. Louis Metropolitan area. Our Student & Family Mentors continue to play an instrumental role supporting families during this pandemic as students made the transition from the virtual learning to in-person learning in the classroom again. Mentors worked in an innovative fashion to build parent engagement, facilitate home visits, drop off food and basic need items to support family stability and promote students with technology to attend classes virtually when students worked virtually during quarantine. The Mentors also participated in promotion parades at each school to celebrate students' academic achievements. During the 2021- 2022 school year our program expanded two additional schools serving a grand total of nine support sites for families and students in St. Louis Public Schools. Our mentors enjoy serving the community in a way that inspires our students' greatest potential to still achieve against numerous obstacles and challenges.

WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT

Program Summary:

2021 proved to be a year of continued impact and progress for the Division of Workforce Development. Despite the challenges of operating during an unrelenting pandemic, the Division forged ahead focused on the goal of securing economic self-reliance. The Covid-19 pandemic failed to slow the transformative work of the Division's programs. By creating "ladders out of poverty" through entrepreneurship and jobs, the Division celebrated a banner year punctuated by a portfolio of new corporate partnerships, over 150 hiring events, and over 4,200 individuals served across five key program areas. The result: economic empowerment! COVID-19 created an opportunity to develop and implement innovative ideas, while sharpening the Division's resolve to execute on its mission, the importance of which became more brightly illuminated as a result of the pandemic. With the sharp increase in unemployment, many people ventured into entrepreneurship as a potential solution. The Women's Business Center became an increasingly valuable resource for a diverse array of women. During 2021 alone, over 200 budding small business owners were counseled on taking their businesses to the next level. Over 2600 prospective entrepreneurs availed themselves to monthly virtual training events held free of charge thanks to the collaboration of both corporate and community partners.

With its commitment to serve in areas where resources are less abundant but most needed, the Division continued to focus on training men who were unemployed or underemployed. As a result of the proven training model for skill-building and leadership development, Save Our Sons placed 467 men in sustainable, progressive employment opportunities in 2021, a 55% increase in placements from 2020. Currently operating in two locations, one in St. Louis City and the other in St. Louis County, Save or Sons celebrated its 6-year anniversary in 2021.

The Division's other programs boast of positive outcomes and gainful employment for clients previously dependent on government assistance, as well as those attempting to resolve child support arrears. Thanks to a key partnership with Bank of America, 130 of the Division's youth clients completed summer internships paying $20/hr.

The Division of Workforce Development is proud of its contribution to the region's economic stability and prosperity in 2021 and is excited about its momentum heading into 2022. The groundwork is currently being laid for the Division's regional expansion into South St. Louis City, East St. Louis, IL, and Spanish Lake in St. Louis County.

We supply customized employability training, services, and resource referrals to our clients, which ensures we can address their varying circumstances and develop pathways to sustainable careers. The SkillUP program boasts a team of dedicated, compassionate specialists who work hard to ensure clients are prepared to become productive members of the workforce. Participants have a host of supportive services available to them – both during their job search, and after they secure gainful employment – to include help with rent/mortgage, utilities, interview attire, work supplies/uniforms, transportation, and more! We also rely on our longstanding relationships with community partners to bridge the gaps, as needed.

Significant Highlights:

Ongoing effects of the COVID pandemic continue to pose challenges for clients and staff alike. We continue to offer modified service delivery models to help accommodate these obstacles. The Urban League's SkillUP program issued over 250 job-related supportive services to clients, including transportation (gas cards, bus tickets, etc.,) rent/mortgage and utility assistance. SkillUP clients had access to PPE supplies and fresh and non-perishable food items, as well. In 2021, the SkillUP program engaged over 60 local, regional, and national employers, and more than 15 training institutions; we helped more than 75 women and men reduce or eliminate their reliance on SNAP benefits. SkillUP graduates are earning an average of $16.00/hour.

Ms. Kimberly R.P. joined the SkillUP program in January 2021. The mother of 3 (ages 7, 4 and 2) was unemployed, and relied on public assistance to provide for her family. She sought assistance with obtaining meaningful employment in Customer Service or the Healthcare fields. Kimberly worked with her assigned Case Manager to bring her rent and utilities current, and secure childcare for her young ones. Her Job Developer enrolled Kim into SkillUP Transitional Employment program, where she applied for a 90-day transitional position at SSM Hospital. Although she completed the program, a series of unfortunate life events affected her attendance and the hospital's willingness to offer her a permanent position.

Kim was quite disappointed, but her Case Manager helped lift her spirits by letting her know we're still in her corner. Two months (and several applications) later, she attended a SkillUP sponsored hiring event with Mediplex/New Beginnings. All the interview strategies she mastered with her Job Developer paid off, and she was offered a position on the spot! Kimberly is currently working full time as an Intake Coordinator at MediPlex/ New Beginnings, earning $16.00/hour.

The SkillUP team is immensely proud of Kimberly, and we wish her continued success in her new career!

WOMEN'S BUSINESS CENTER

Program Summary:

The Urban League of Metropolitan St. Louis Women's Business Center (WBC) is a part of a national network of entrepreneurship centers throughout the United States and its territories, which are designed to assist women in starting and growing small businesses. WBCs seek to "level the playing field" for women entrepreneurs, who still face unique obstacles in the business world. The WBC helps women entrepreneurs launch new businesses and compete in the marketplace through a number of free and low-cost resources, including business training, counseling, workshops, and access to credit and capital through community referrals.

WBC focuses on the four pillars identified as vital to success for rising entrepreneurs: Leadership Readiness, Business Knowledge, Operational Soundness, and Driving Revenue. These are emphasized in our program offerings, including our signature program, Ready! Set! Launch! 14-Week Small Business Development Program (RSL). These pillars are also focused on in our industry-specific initiatives, which were enabled through CARES Covid-19 relief funding. In addition, educational services are offered to clients that focus on a variety of topics based on individual client needs: business planning, marketing, social media, website design, legal services, emotional wellbeing, human resources, accounting, personal finance, business banking, operational soundness, asset protection, lender readiness, and access to capital via lending program and grants.

These services are offered to clients in the form of virtual workshops and counseling sessions. Workshops are held on lunchtime, evening, and weekend sessions for accessibility. Serving more than 200 clients annually and teaching sustainable and self-reliant business practices, the WBC is a natural complement to the services offered by Urban League of Metropolitan St. Louis, Inc. The Urban League WBC also aligns with the national Women's Business Center program by collaborating with regional organizations, serving disadvantaged business owners, and utilizing technology to bridge gaps. The Urban League WBC is highly responsive to the needs of clients – recognizing that women and minorities face specific challenges to small business ownership.

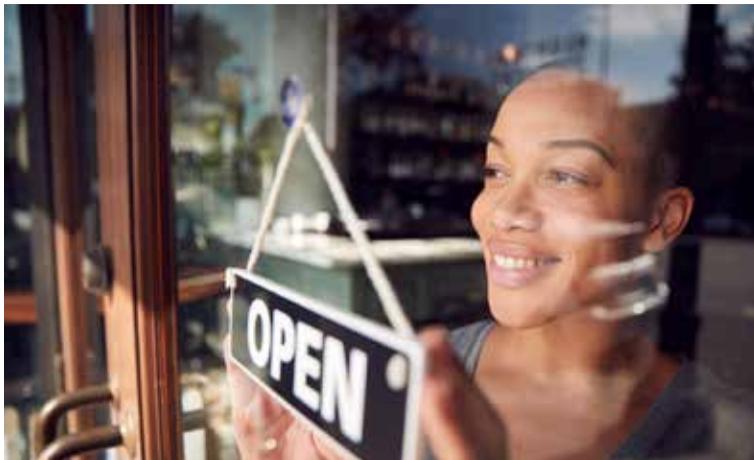

Significant Highlights:

In 2021, the WBC responded to the rising need of entrepreneurial support during the COVID-19 pandemic by continuing to offer relevant and important business counseling and training services to the community. The WBC served 206 clients through 1-1 business counseling in 745 business counseling sessions that included 608 contact hours. The WBC also hosted 156 training events open to the general public, with 2,667 training event attendees. At least 10 of these graduates are currently in conversation with lenders for funding/credit opportunities. Many were also introduced to BMO-Harris Bank to utilize special credit and lending opportunities for Black, Latinx, and Women Entrepreneurs through their BMO for Black, Latinx, and Women Businesses Programs.

The WBC celebrated the graduation of the first 30 graduates of RSL with an outdoor in-person inaugural graduation ceremony, including the following special guest speakers who showed their support of the WBC program: Urban League President & CEO Michael P. McMillan, SBA District Director (and original founder of the WBC in St. Louis) Maureen Brinkley, Mayor of Ferguson

Ella Jones, Mayor of St. Louis City Tishaura Jones, and Governor of Missouri Mike Parson. WBC celebrated the second class of 45 RSL graduates with a virtual ceremony, which included several of the first graduation's special guests, as well as community partners.

Through SBA CARES COVID-19 Relief Funding, the WBC was able to provide strong supplemental services to the WBC and to its clients, through 2 full time staff members who provide administrative, programmatic, and case management support that has been integral to the success and bandwidth of the WBC program, especially with the rise in businesses in need of unique support during the COVID-19 Pandemic. The CARES funding also enabled the WBC to strengthen its business counseling bandwidth, offer new and signature trainings, including Business Planning 101, Marketing Essentials, Social Media Marketing Workshops, Perfect Pitch!, and more. The CARES funding also enabled the WBC to provide special industry specific trainings and educations for entrepreneurs pivoting in their small businesses through our "Industry Specific Initiatives" – 4-8 week virtual and in-person trainings with subject matter experts, specifically Early Childhood Development, Trucking & Transportation, Podcasts, Real Estate, and Restaurants & Catering Initiatives. Maggie Squires started the RSL program in Spring 2021. At the time, she had recently opened her business, The Matted Doodle, LLC, a pet grooming company, mid-pandemic, after leaving her job at another grooming company to pursue her own business full-time. She was grooming out of her home kitchen and had quickly grown and maintained a strong client base but wanted to open her doors to a brick-and-mortar to better organize and strengthen her business. Through the support of the WBC, she was able to create a strong business and marketing plan, get connected with LSEM for necessary legal support, and was able to leverage capital funding of $15,000 to open her doors to her storefront in December 2021. She has been booked with clients ever since opening and has shared that her storefront has provided a more positive and organized grooming experience for her customers.

Mr. Courtney Webb (Gold) came to the Transition for Change Employment Program from the child support docket of the St. Louis County Courts. He was behind on child support and unable to find sustainable income. Mr. Webb (Gold) was so excited about a team assisting him in his job search. We assisted him with creating his resume, mock interviews and helping him complete multiple applications. He was offered a job within 30 days. The job did not pay what he needed. He accepted the job reluctantly but was hopeful it would be a good step in his transition.

Mr. Webb (Gold) stayed in contact with us and began to get small raises at the company, he was encouraged to stay at the job and keep growing. What a great email to receive from him to Transition. Below is a copy of the email.

"Hello Mrs. Parker, I'm not sure if you remember me but I got a job through you and the Urban League back in 2020 through Aerotek. They put me at a company called Spectrum Brands making $11.50 an hour. I kept asking you if there were any other jobs available that paid a higher wage. Well fast forward to today, I'm at the same job but in less than 2 years, I'm a plant supervisor and making a salary over $68,000. I just wanted to reach out and say thank you for your help in finding me employment. You told me to hang in there and I did. Hard work does pay off. Thank you, Mrs. Parker, and thank you Urban League."

Mr. Webb's last name has been changed since working. He shared "I had my last name changed to my grandfather's last name last year. My dad never met his father. I took an Ancestry DNA test in 2019 and my largest ethnicity was European Jewish. I hired a genealogist and they found out my Jewish grandfather was alive at 98 years old and living in Ferguson. We connected a couple years ago, and he wanted me to have his last name. And so I changed it. He passed away last March. But thanks again for your help." We congratulate Mr. Webb on this complete Transition for Change! We thank our partner Aerotek and Spectrum for their great partnership and Spectrum for their commitment to second chance employees.

SOS: Camaron Kye a 28 year old man from East St. Louis, and graduate of the inaugural Algoa SOS program has been incarcerated since the age of 18, and has served nearly ten years in prison. It is easy to find that he is a very articulate and spiritual individual once you hold a conversation with him. He has been free for nearly an entire year and has not been unemployed since weeks of his release. A determined person that has a positive outlook on life is the best way to describe this gentlemen who started out volunteering for the SOS volunteer/stipend program at the Schnuck's warehouse under the supervision of Roy Gillespie.

This program was vital to Mr. Kye not returning to a life of crime in order to earn a little extra money. He thanks the Urban League for being innovative in supporting the justice involved with access to earned income, because his felony status often makes placing him in a gainful position of employment arduous. After receiving a few small stipend checks we were able to get him placed at Proctor& Gamble earning a modest $12 per hour. He remained vigilant about staying employed and maintained his employment there for three or four months. He credits the SOS program for teaching him that it is "easier to get a job when you already have one," and he applied for a position at a Covid-19 testing site Minute Center.

He was eventually hired on full time with benefits and earns $25 hourly! Just recently he had ran into a challenge where he was put out of his sister's home where he was residing since being released from prison. This event happened so suddenly that Camaron Kye was forced to pack up all of his belongings in his vehicle and search for other means to lay his head. While driving, he was subsequently pulled over by Fairview Heights Police while attempting to plead with his family over in Swansea, Illinois to allow him temporary shelter. Needless to say the turn events lead to the towing of his vehicle with all of his belongings including his wallet inside of it. He was beginning to come unraveled from all of this adversity when SOS and the Urban League came to the rescue! The agency was able to pay his fine and also get his vehicle released from the towing yard in a matter of days! Not only did the Urban League assist with the fees but they also afforded Mr. Kye two weeks in a hotel so that he could regroup and work on a strategy to find a new place to live. He is currently awaiting responses from a few properties that he has applied for since then. We have also referred him to our housing director to further assist him in his search.

He is extremely thankful to SOS for being there during his time of need, and in his words describes our support as being "nothing short of angelic." Today, he is even more committed to the Save Our Sons movement and with his exceptional speaking abilities wants to eventually participate in a podcast that supports the ideology of this life saving program.

NUL President Marc Morial Visits with Save Our Sons Algoa Participants at Ferguson Center Completing Documentary:

National Urban League President and CEO Marc Morial visited ULSTL for a reunion of graduates of the Save Our Sons-Algoa program. These young men have worked so very hard to turn their lives around and they give so much credit to The Urban League's Save Our Sons Program. We appreciate President Morial's vision and commitment to re-entry and elevating this conversation on a national level. His visit was filmed as part of an upcoming documentary on re-entry that will feature our program and many of these young brothers. We will also share their progress in 2021. Special thanks to Mr. Anthony Cage, Mr. Jamie Dennis, and all those who help make this program a success.

SOS: Demetrius Robinson a 27 year old man from South St. Louis, and graduate of the inaugural Algoa SOS program can sing nothing but high praises when being asked about what the Save Our Sons program has done for him. Besides inspiring him to become the master of his own destiny and providing him with the necessary skills that it takes to gain employment, SOS has connected him with various job opportunities.

Days are filled with responsibility for this gentlemen who is working two jobs now. He is currently engaged and his fiancé's mother had just recently passed away when the Urban League aided this couple in a most profound way by covering the final arrangement costs for her cremation. He had admitted that the ordeal had left him and his fiancé frustrated and hurt when they were informed of how much the crematory was charging to complete the process. In life, his future mother-in-law was their financial anchor, and they had just signed a new lease to a new residence.

Without the extra income, they were hopeless, so he was ecstatic to be able to continue moving into his new home and take care of his fiancé's mother's arrangements too. He now regularly volunteers for SOS events and still desires to be a business owner in the landscaping industry. He says that he and his fiancé are forever grateful to the Urban League for supporting him during his time of bereavement and he is also interested in becoming an ambassador for the Save Our Sons program when the re-entry hybrid program is revisited on the national stage.

SOS: Jameel Williams is a 43 year old father of two sons from North St. Louis, who came to Save Our Sons in late October of 2020 after speaking with Mr. Dennis via social media about a career opportunity. This gentlemen had been out of work since the last week of February at the beginning of the Covid-19 pandemic crisis.

He was formally, a United States Army veteran E5 sergeant who was honorably discharged and later attended Dental School to become certified with the skills to work in a dental office. He recognized that there was no diversity in this field and he also saw a personal opportunity to advance and even become a practicing Dentist someday. He landed a position at Affordable Dentures & Implants as a lead assistant. He was the only African American male there for most of his time working in this capacity. He felt a deep sense of pride being that he was representing for his entire group. After being laid off from the dental office earlier last year, he was drawing unemployment but months later even that became totally exhausted and was depleted.

This is what prompted Jameel Williams to seek SOS for employment support. At the time of his visit I didn't have any leads readily available for him being that he wanted to utilize his dentistry skills. I gave him a couple of leads to The St. Louis Job Corps as a Resident Attendant (RA), and to Green Light Dispensary as a cashier.

He has ambitions to expand his own network for a radio/podcast show entitled "Top-Flight Radio" that he has created that showcases local unsigned talent and provides platforms for dialogue that positively \ impacts our community. "SOS will be there for you in more ways than one even if you don't need them, they come and help. You change your pattern of thoughts simply being around. His motto is: "If you ain't supportin' then you ain't important!"

We partnered with more than 40 local employers who agreed to provide meaningful work experiences, all related to the youths' career interests. Participants were paired with Job Coaches who helped them achieve program milestones like goal setting, resume development, and interview preparation. Coaches also provided guidance, support, and technical assistance throughout the youths' work experience.

In collaboration with Alltru Credit Union, youth completed a two (2) part Financial Literacy Training course, which included an opportunity to open a free youth checking and savings accounts with the institution. Participants joined virtual and in-person Professional Development Series, hosted by companies like BJC, Justine Petersen, and Safe Connections. Motivational Speaker Koran Bolden and St. Louis City Mayor Tishaura Jones also hosted thought-provoking conversations with STLYJ youth.

Jonathan S. joined the Summer Work Experience program, eager to receive training/experience that will help him be better prepared to achieve his post-secondary educational goals. Jonathan is a senior at St. John Vianny High School and planned to study Architectural Engineering in college. He was thrilled to learn of the opportunity to select Paradigm Builders as a summer worksite, considering it was directly in line with his future goals.

After completing a (lengthy) screening process with the employer, Jonathan hit the ground running. We received rave reviews from both the Job Coach and Worksite Supervisor from the day he started; he reported to work every day, on time, and ready to learn! Jonathan is already well-versed in a variety of design software and was able to quickly begin contributing to day-to-day tasks at the firm! Jonathan has admittedly learned a lot about his career and educational potential during this work experience - we are very proud!

The team initially began vaccinating seniors in centers where we had established relationships then expanded to the general population per CDC guidelines.

The DPS team hosted vaccination events at several area school districts and senior buildings providing shots and boosters to over 40,000 adults and eligible children. The Public Safety Division distributed 4,637,967 PPE masks and over 3,000 bottles of hand sanitizer at schools, churches, barber shops, beauty salons, grocery stores, bus stops, and other popular neighborhood venues. Larger donations were provided to Metro for bus drivers and staff, and to the St. Louis Public Schools for teachers and support staff.

I supported the SOS team at an Opioid Triage in the Kingsway East neighborhood and met a woman named Ms. H. She approached me about receiving assistance to obtain her GED and receive emergency housing. The woman explained to me that she had five children between the ages of 1 and 8 and wanted to find a better job and provide better stability for the children. She continued and told me about her living situation and began to pour down tears as she described the excess mold in the cracks of her ceiling and the falling drywall throughout the home. At that time, I asked her about her budget and provided phone numbers to property owners and websites. However, I went back to the office and contacted a few resources on file. About two weeks after, I was able to find her a property owner that worked with her on her first payment and was able to move her in immediately. I also enrolled her in the Urban League virtual GED classes. The client was so happy with the services and resources received.

COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT

Program Summary:

Urban Engagement Specialists are street smart, trained, uniformed, and disciplined individuals who pride themselves on establishing trust in neighborhoods they serve by building relationships with residents and stakeholders. These men and women serve as the connecting point between the community and resources provided by the Urban League and other social service organizations.

Specialists have successfully canvassed 16,252 homes and businesses in the neighborhoods of College Hill, Dellwood, Fairground, Grand Center, Hyde Park, Kingsway East, Kingsway West, Jeff-Vander-Lou, Mark Twain, O'Fallon, Walnut Park, and Wells-Goodfellow to inform residents of information and programs such as Clean Sweep, Covid-19 vaccinations, neighborhood amnesty, Federation of Block Units, Urban Opioid Triage, gun violence de-escalation services, free trauma counseling, PPE distributions, food drives and other resources offered by the Urban League.

In a mutual effort to reduce gun violence in the metropolitan community, Women's Voices Raised for Social Justice (Women's Voices) and the Urban League of Metropolitan St. Louis partnered on the "Lock It for Love" program. Women's Voices supplied the Urban League with cable gun locks and gun safety brochures and the Urban Engagement Specialists distributed these to adults during home visits in designated neighborhoods. The team talked with people about safe gun storage as a means of reducing/preventing unintentional shootings and suicide. Staff training and guidelines for the dissemination of information and distribution of gun locks was provided by Women's Voices. Women's Voices provided 500 cable gun locks and 500 brochures at no cost to the Urban League.

Following the tragic death of a popular Cardinal Ritter College Prep alumnus due to gun violence, the Public Safety team conducted violence de-escalation training with students and participated in a student-led anti-gun violence march entitled "Movement Not Moment" in which more than 1,000 students participated.

URBAN OPIOID TRIAGE

Program Summary:

GUN VIOLENCE DE-ESCALATION NETWORK

Program Summary:

The Urban League’s Gun Violence De-Escalation Network canvasses and engages St. Louis’ most dangerous areas. The de-escalation team receives referrals from St. Louis City and County residents, neighbors, family members, Urban Engagement Specialists, Case Manager Specialists, and others who know of any gun violence incidents or incidents with the trajectory towards gun violence. Residents are provided with a 24/7 hotline run by trained program mediators who help de-escalate the conflict from a non-law enforcement perspective.

The mediators give every party involved an opportunity to voice their concerns and attempt to de-escalate the situations within 72 hours. Parties then sign a truce agreement, and if the gun violence incident cannot be resolved, the agreeing party will be re-located.

From January 2021 to December 2021, the de-escalation team has successfully de-escalated 74 incidents involving more than 150 individuals. The target neighborhoods comprised 46% of cases, and 63.7% involved someone between the ages of 12 and 23.

Testimonial

A man walked up to receive a few packs of masks during a PPE distribution event at the Urban League Headquarters. He recognized one of the Urban Engagement Specialists and wanted to thank him for saving his life. While doing door-to-door engagements in the Kingsway East neighborhood, the team stopped at a gas station to deliver fliers to the owner. Upon exiting store, the Specialist heard a woman scream, “He’s going to die!” She recognized the SOS uniform, ran up to the specialist and asked for Narcan. Her friend was in the car convulsing and was unresponsive.

The Urban Engagement Specialist instructed her to call an ambulance and quickly ran to retrieve two kits of Narcan. The Specialist administered the Narcan and rubbed the individual’s chest. After two minutes, the man started to wake up slowly. The woman was provided with the other Narcan kit and instructions for use. She was extremely grateful and drove off. The man who came to get the masks was the man involved in the lifesaving incident and he expressed his appreciation for the quick action that saved his life.

SIGN UP TO EMPOWER COMMUNITIES AND CHANGE LIVES!

Become a member or volunteer of the Urban League of Metropolitan Saint Louis, Inc. and support an organization that works to improve the quality of life for the residents of the entire St. Louis region.

Your interest in becoming a member or one of our auxiliary members of the Urban League of Metropolitan St. Louis helps us in furthering our mission to advocate and empower African Americans and others to become economically self-sufficient.

When you volunteer you help the agency in more ways than one. Without volunteers, the Urban League would be far more limited in what it can do for our community. Volunteers serve as grandparents in our Head Start program. They are mentors to at-risk youth. They devote their expertise and know-how on program committees, distribute food in food pantries, and answer phones at receptionist desks. Currently, more than 600 individuals contribute to make a tremendous difference in Urban League services. Urban League volunteers do it all, because they want to make a difference.
